MEXICO CITY.

THE CITY OF PALACES, THE ANCIENT CAPITAL OF THE AZTEC EMPIRE AND THE JEWEL IN NEW SPANISH VICEROYS' CROWN, IS TODAY ONE OF THE BIGGEST, MOST COMPLEX AND MOST BEAUTIFUL CITIES IN THE WORLD.

The architects that arrived from Europe during the colonial period applied and shared their knowledge of baroque, neoclassic and other styles of art that were combined with the indigenous styles to create an architecture that is quite unique in all the world. Works such as the Metropolitan Cathedral, palaces, mansions and an endless number of sober, sumptuous churches adorn the central area of the city now called the Historic Center; these extraordinary types of buildings can also be seen in some very picturesque towns and villages such as Coyoacán, San Ángel, Tlalpan and Xochimilco.

Mexico City is a modern, cosmopolitan city situated in an old lake basin which is surrounded by volcanic mountains. The different cultures that have inhabited the city during the course of the centuries have left an interesting architectural legacy that comprises many different styles. Firstly, there are the pre-Hispanic remains that tell of the greatness of the civilizations that settled on this land before the arrival of the Spaniards. Aztec art and culture can be seen on the ruins in different parts of the city.
